This highly successful standard text is a critical analysis of EC competition law, offering a coherent account of the scope and practice of EC competition rules. It incorporates all recent major developments in the area. Professor Korah's detailed knowledge and clear analysis, combined with her often trenchant views make her the ideal guide through this subject.

This is the ninth edition of Professor Korah's widely respected "Yellow Book" on EC competition law and practice. For many years used by both practising lawyers and law students as well as officials, this book has kept pace with the rapid development of the subject. Its description of economic theory and the policy considerations which underpin the law and its enforcement are even more important in the era of modernisation, when the enforcement of competition law has become decentralised to the Member States and when new Member States have recently become subject to EC competition law. The book addresses questions to which there is no clear answer, and is used by experts as well as by those less familiar with the subject. Its analysis and trenchant comment on the legislation, case law and policies
