These Little Stories. Many years ago, the Daily Telegraph (a prominent, respected newspaper in the UK) ran a writing competition. Their challenge was to write a story in exactly 50 words: not one more and not one less. It's not easy to do, but it's an interesting exercise for any budding writer to try, concentrating the mind as it does on succinctness and clarity of writing.

grandfather. Martin was the only one of them to survive the fire – the biggest loss suffered by a single family in any British football disaster. In later years, Martin devoted himself to extensively investigating how the disaster was caused, its culture of institutional neglect and the government's general indifference towards football fans' safety at the time. This book tells the gripping, extraordinary in-depth story of a boy's unthinkable loss following a spring afternoon at a football match, of how fifty-six people could die at a game, and of the truths he unearthed as an adult. This is the story – thirty years on – of the disaster football has never properly acknowledged.

A native Montanan and an acclaimed novelist, Rowland spent the better part of two years studying and traveling around his beloved home state, from the mines of Butte to the forests of the Northwest, from the stark wind-scrubbed badlands of the East to the tourist-driven economies of the Southwest. Along the way, he considered who we are, where we came from, and what we might be in the process of becoming.

This oft-quoted all-time favorite of the medical community will gladden--and strengthen--the hearts of patients, doctors, and anyone entering medical study, internship, or practice. With unassailable logic and rapier wit, the sage Dr. Oscar London muses on the challenges and joys of doctoring, and imparts timeless truths, reality checks, and poignant insights gleaned from 30 years of general practice--while never taking himself (or his profession) too seriously. The classic book on the art and humor of practicing medicine, celebrating its 20th anniversary in a new gift edition with updates throughout. Previous editions have sold more than 200,000 copies. The perfect gift for med students and grads as well as new and practicing physicians. Approximately 17,000 students graduate from med school each spring in North America.

Where Will It Stop? Enjoy your burgers now, because the authoritarian Left has decided cows contribute to global warming, so meat must come off your menu. Seriously. American flags must not be displayed because they glorify oppression and a slave-owning history. Who could ever be proud of America? Columbus, Ohio, named for Christopher Columbus, cancelled

Columbus Day. Columbus sailed the ocean blue as a racist white! There can be no arguing that more is to come. The radical Left already bans statues, names, and thoughts, so why not letters of the alphabet-especially those connected to Christianity? Fifty-Six Hings he Lef Will ake Away From You extends the Left's disdain to its logical conclusions-from carbon emissions to private ownership to wealth to religion. Want to teach your children your values? How do you push back when the schools teach otherwise and the government declares your religion discriminatory? Want to build a large house? Forbidden-it's a carbon overconsumption and income inequality problem! It's all about exercising power with the Left. Police, guns, math, marriage...even florists and underwear! All going, going, gone! Fifty-six Hings he Lef Will ake Away From You makes a chilling case that until the sleepy masses accepting the extreme demands of the Left wake up, it will not stop. This is The Wake Up Call!
