Philomena Black has decided the next step of her life includes being a bride. When she finds out that she's been placed as a Mail Order Bride much more quickly than she expected, she's off to Nebraska and her new life. Unfortunately, upon arrival, she finds that her new life isn't going to be what she expected. But Lewis Meyers has no desire to marry. Finding himself in charge of his brother's children, and wanting to see them taken care of appropriately and to alleviate his responsibility with them, he uses an agency to hire a housekeeper. But marriage? No way! As Philomena seeks an alternative to being a mere housekeeper, Lewis sees the men lining up to court her and finds himself inexplicably jealous. Soon his heart yearns for this wonderful young lady to become more than a children's caretaker, but is it all too late? The question remains: will Lewis ask for her hand in marriage? And, more than that, will Philomena accept? Philomena's story is one of the amazing tales in the Western romance collection, Young Love Historical Romance Volume 2, by #1 bestselling clean Christian romance authors, Misty Shae and Terri Grace. Each story is a great read in itself, and can be read alone, or even better read them all as part of this adventurous feel good series.

"What more does a wealthy twenty eight year old woman need," is the question on most people's lips when they look at Jane Meyer. No one understands the despair that she feels which causes her to sink into depression. A near death experience changes her perspective on life's issues and brings her a pleasant surprise. Frank Logan is a desperate man. Working hard to keep the Senior Citizens' Home in his town running after their biggest donor passes away is proving to be quite a challenge. When his path crosses that of Miss Jane Meyer, life is never the same again for either one of them.

A romantic new book from bestselling author Lori Copeland that portrays God's miraculous provision even when none seems possible. 1892—Mae Wilkey's sweet next-door neighbor, Pauline, is suffering from old age and dementia and desperately needs family to come help her. But Pauline can't recall having kin remaining. Mae searches through her desk and finds a name—Tom Curtis, who may just be the answer to their prayers. Tom can't remember an old aunt named Pauline, but if she thinks he's a long-lost nephew, he very well may be. After two desperate letters from Mae, he decides to pay a visit. An engagement, a runaway train, and a town of quirky, loveable people make for more of an adventure than Tom is expecting. But it is amazing what can bloom in winter when God is in charge of things.

When twenty-six-year old Grace Huntingdon loses her husband of eight years, she has no idea that life is about to get tough for her and her twins, Fay and Clive. Shunned by everyone because of her husband's infamy as a famous gun slinger, she is forced to move from Fargo to Rocky Springs after his death. But his ill reputation has preceded them and they find that the going is really tough. Slate Cunningham is twenty-eight and has been searching for Grace and her children for close to four years. He was previously a bandit, but when the light of God shines on him, his life turns around for the better. Now his desire is to find Grace because he'd held her husband in his arms as he took his final breath. His hope is that the message he brings will give her some peace at last, but there's a lot they both have to deal with. Eventually love finds a way.
